Early-to-rise bandit adds to his 'wealth'

An armed robber stole about $200 cash and credit card receipts worth more than $200 from an employee of the Pontoon Shell service station, 1701 Pontoon Road, as the employee was preparing to open the station at 6:35 a.m. Tuesday.

The employee was kneeling over a floor safe in the station, getting the money out to fill the cash register, when the robber opened the front door and pointed a blue steel snub-nosed revolver at him.

The victim said the robber did not speak and appeared to be frightened and shaking. The robber motioned with the gun for the employee to slide the money bag over to him and when the employee complied, the man picked it up, walked to his car and drove away on Pontoon Road toward Pontoon Beach.

The money and credit card receipts were in a dark blue bank bag with a zipper on top and the name "State Bank of East Alton" on one side.

The robber was described as about 25 years of age, about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds, of medium build, having an afro-style haircut and a thin mustache. He wore a yellow shirt, dark brown sports coat, light brown slacks and brown shoes.

He was driving a Buick Electra 255 car, about a 1968 model, which had a crease on the left rear quarterpanel. The car was silver with a black vinyl top, the victim reported.

Sad memories motivate woman drive organizer

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer
A Quad-City area woman's year to help in the battle against a disease which several years ago claimed the life of her young son, has resulted in a marathon fund-raising run along the streets of Madison, to seven truck arrivals.

The project, netting $520 in donations for the Madison County unit of the American Cancer Society.

"Mrs. Hazel York isn't much over five feet," Eugene Crivello, assistant director of the county unit, said this week. "But because of her efforts, she stands 10 feet tall in the eyes of people here."

Mrs. York and Granite City distance runner Richard Rose organized a 12-hour marathon run along Madison Avenue, between Second and 14th streets, to raise money for the Cancer Society.

The proceeds were presented to Crivello. Mrs. Ruth Wilderman, executive director of the Bond, Tessen and Madison counties units, and Madison Police Chief Frank Dufko, chairman of the Madison cancer crusade.

Grants aid overpass, renewal

Federal grants totaling $221,702 for projects planned in the Quad-City area under the Community Development Program are expected to be confirmed at a meeting in East St. Louis today between a representative of the Housing and Urban Development Agency and Community Development officials of Madison and St. Clair Counties.

Vacancies allow teacher rehiring

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
The Granite City Board of Education voted Monday night to rehire 11 of 20 teachers who were "honorably dismissed" effective June 6 due to reduced enrollments in the district's schools.

The board also agreed to rehire two teachers who were hired for one year only during the last school year. There were 13 full-time teachers and two part-time kindergarten teachers who finished their year of employment with the close of school this month.

Under an agreement to "honorably terminate" the employment of the 20 first-year teachers, the board voted to

John L. Waner, director of the Chicago office of HUD, is scheduled to meet in the office of Mayor William E. Mason of East St. Louis at 2 p.m. with Community Development board members to discuss grants for both counties and for the various development districts into which the counties are divided.

Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, chairman of the Madison County Board, will represent Madison County at the meeting. At the same time, it was reported that one program proposed as a District Two (Quad-City area) project has been rejected. That request involved a $7,000 grant for a Senior Aide Employment program in which senior citizens would be hired in public service jobs.

The $7,000 sought under the Community Development program would be a matching fund in a program sponsored by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, the cities of Granite City, Venice, Madison and Pontoon Beach, and Belleville Area College.

Mrs. Mary Kane, coordinator of the Madison County Community Development program, said the project was rejected by HUD on grounds that it was not "directly supportive of a community development program."

The rejection by the Chicago office of HUD has been appealed to the HUD office at Washington. Mrs. Kane said, "One other Quad-City area project involving a grant of $1,400 for a program to provide ambulance service in Venice is in dispute and also has been appealed to the Washington HUD office. In that program the fund, if granted, would pay for ambulance calls for persons without means to meet such costs."

Temporary development grants by HUD thus far provide a total of $900,000 to finance projects in Madison County, of which $221,702 has been approved tentatively for District Two.

The county is divided into five districts, each of which has proposed a series of development projects in its respective area. District Two includes Granite City, Venice, Madison and Pontoon Beach, and Nanticoke. Venice and Chouteau Townships, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler is chairman of the District Two Community Development Board.

Among grants for District Two projects which Waner is expected to consider in today's meeting are $40,000 for a Granite City engineering study for the location of a grade separation between downtown Granite City and West Granite City, and $60,000 for sewer reconstruction in Granite City.

Other projects and tentative grants are:

Venice—Revolving loan plan in which homeowners may borrow funds for rehabilitation of residential property, $13,100.

This is in addition to the $1,400 ambulance service program which is in dispute.

Madison—An urban renewal program, $10,000, and a rehabilitation loan program similar to that proposed in Venice, $11,600.

Pontoon Beach—Surface drainage, $7,500.

Venice Township—Fire protection and fire hydrants, $3,729.

Chouteau Townships—Construction of a Community Center, $12,500.

Nanticoke Township—Fire protection, $20,967, and providing city water to areas not in water district, $15,207.

Venice sewer study

Confronted with a series of sanitary sewer breaks, two of them of major proportions, the Venice City Council Tuesday night authorized a citywide engineering study of the sewer system.

The council, after hearing reports that the more recent sewer breaks apparently were the result of heavy rains occurring over the past month, retained the engineering firm of Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab of Granite City to make the sewer survey.

Edward Juncos, representing the engineering firm, told the aldermen that the study will determine the city's future actions in meeting sewer problems—whether the sewers should be replaced, whether they should be repaired or whether plastic liners may halt the difficulties.

The aldermen approved expenditure up to $8,000 to pay for the study.

Sanitary sewer breaks in Venice in recent weeks include one in the 200 block of Third Street, one in the alley between the 200 block of Graniteville and Weber streets, and another in

Salvation Army center to proceed

Captain Ronald Keeley and his wife, Nancy, will depart after services here June 29 but their efforts to establish a new service center will continue.

The Salvation Army advisory board at a dinner meeting last night, honored the Keeleys and voted to have Architect Bruce Colwell prepare preliminary plans and specifications for several alternative methods of constructing the center on a four-acre site on East 28th Street.

The Keeleys and their young daughters, Karen Joy and Elizabeth Ann, will be located next at Leavenworth, Kan., where there is an extensive Salvation Army program.

Replacing them will be the Rev. Gus Harsh and his family. Assigned here through the Midwestern headquarters, Rev. Harsh is to become a Salvation Army officer.

The Keeleys will remain here through 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services on Sunday, June 29.

Following the evening services, refreshments will be served and they will be honored at an informal reception.

Board members presented a gift last night and there were talks of commendation by Rev. Lyons, who cited the history of the Salvation Army, and Mrs. Elaine Kistner who revealed highlights of the Keeleys' family's four-year stay here.

Capt. Keeley has been active in the Tri-Cities Area United Way, Masonic Lodge 8552.

For aught, Granite City Rotary, Right to Life and the St. Elizabeth Hospital are advisory bodies.

FIRST RECIPIENT. Larry W. Barnett (center) of Alton, winner of the Steven J. Kerr Memorial Award at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, receives congratulations from Charles B. Schweizer (left), executive director of the SUE Foundation, and Lt. Col. Charles M. Johnson, commanding officer of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps detachment at SUE. Schweizer is holding a plaque which will remain at the university, with names of the Kerr Award recipients being added each year.

Award to Air Force Reserve Corps cadet

Larry W. Barnett of Alton, who is scheduled to receive his bachelor of arts degree and a commission as an Air Force second lieutenant this week in ceremony at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been named the recipient of the first Steven J. Kerr Memorial Award.

The award is being funded through contributions to the SUE Foundation in memory of Steven J. Kerr, a cadet in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) at SUE who was killed in the crash of a light airplane in St. Louis County Dec. 17, 1974.

According to Capt. Roger A. Bailey, assistant professor of aerospace studies at SUE, Barnett has been designated an AFROTC "distinguished graduate."

He will receive his bachelor of arts degree in human services at commencement exercises Friday and will be commissioned in AFROTC ceremonies at the university the following day. He then will be assigned as a Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile launch control officer.

A veteran of the Air Force, the 28-year-old Barnett is a former Bethalto police officer. Attaining the cadet rank of lieutenant colonel, he is a former commander of the AFROTC unit at SUE and received the outstanding commander ribbon.

He also was designated for the Reserve Officers Association gold award and AFROTC "first honors."

Capt. Bailey said the Kerr Award will be presented annually to the senior AFROTC cadet who, as determined by the entire cadet corps, best exemplifies the qualities of dedication, integrity, leadership and imagination necessary to become an Air Force officer.

The name of the recipient will be added to a plaque which remains in the offices of the AFROTC detachment at the University.

In addition, the annual recipient will receive a miniature plaque.

Both the original and miniature bear an engraved likeness of cadet Kerr. The annual cost of the award will be borne by continued contributions to the Foundation's Kerr Award Fund, Capt. Bailey said.

Cadet Kerr was a graduate student in art and was in his last year of the AFROTC pre-commissioning program when he was killed. He received his B.A. degree at SUE in 1974.

He was born July 5, 1950, at Waterloo, Ia., and is survived by his wife, Sgt. Pamela Kerr of Scott Air Force Base and their infant son, Sean. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kerr, live at Tripoli, Ia.

Salesmen need county license

Roger Deltour, Madison County license inspector, reminded salesmen this week that door-to-door salesmen, transient merchants, home repair workers and several other classes of salesmen are among those required to obtain a county license before conducting business in the unincorporated areas of the county.

Failure to have a license is a class E misdemeanor and will be prosecuted by the sheriff's department, he said.

Deltour said salesmen of books, magazines, snow cones, ice cream, all types of small household items and many contractors' and home repair salesmen are among those who need licenses.

He requested salesmen who have questions or who need licenses to contact the sheriff's department at 1-692-4433 or his office at 1-692-4500, for assistance.

Skin, scuba diving instruction at 'Y'

There will be a basic scuba class starting Wednesday, June 16, at the Tri-City Area YMCA, 201 Edison Ave., taught by Debbie Holt. The course, which lasts eight weeks, will meet on Wednesday nights from 7 until 11 o'clock.

The first two hours of each session will be devoted to classroom work and the remaining two hours of each session will be spent in the pool learning the basics of skin and scuba diving.

All students, upon completion of the course and open water diver training, will receive certification through the Professional Association of Diving Instructors, a certification accepted worldwide. All equipment for the course, which includes masks, fins, tanks, back packs, regulators, air, textbooks and handouts, will be provided free of extra charge by the World Wide Diving and Sports Center of Caseyville.

Students need only to bring swim suit, towel and pencil to the class. All basic aspects of fresh water and salt water diving will be covered.

Upon completion of the course, students are to be invited to join the East Side Diving Club of Granite City.

The club, a non-profit organization, functions to promote skin and scuba diving safely and enjoyment.

A division of the club, the Southern Illinois Underwater Search and Recovery Team, functions to save lives in the event of an emergency, and is on voluntary call 24 hours per day. All members are covered in case of accident or death.

The East Side Diving Club sponsors four yearly trips to Florida and the Bahamas Islands. The next trip leaves this area on June 29, and all divers are invited to participate.

Besides the four trips to Florida, the club offers dives

A library is being developed for clients' use at Specialized Services, 612 State St., Madison, it was announced today.

A wide variety of reading materials at all reading levels is needed, including magazines, dictionaries and encyclopedias. Those having books that they no longer can use or need can donate them to the workshop, a spokesman said.

The hours that the facility is open are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Unemployment claims high

Jerry Wade, manager of the Unemployment Compensation Division of the State Employment Service, told Granite City Rotarians Tuesday that he believes the state's unemployment compensation rate will rise because of the high number of claims being made on unemployment compensation funds.

Wade spoke at the club's weekly noon luncheon at the YMCA.

He also discussed recent changes in the division's Supplemental Benefit Program, which allows teachers to file for unemployment benefits during the summer months when they are not working. He said about 80 area teachers have filed for the payments.

Rotarians approved a recommendation to send two handicapped children to camp at Little Grassie this summer at a cost of $310.

Installation of new officers will be held at 8:30 p.m. Friday, June 27, at the Sunset Hills Country Club.

Race 'sweep' attempt by vacuum repairman

Few race car drivers apply their personal employment knowledge to weekend hobbies. But, in a sense, that is what Tri-City Speedway's late model stock car driver Russ Wallace of Arnold, Mo., is doing.

Wallace, 41, a parts and service manager for a vacuum cleaning machine firm in Kirkwood, will attempt this Saturday to "sweep" past other competition for his fifth consecutive feature race win of the season.

Head of a four-member racing family, Wallace may possibly be headed for the 1975 track title on the half-mile dirt oval here.

As runner-up last year to champion Len Gittermeier, Wallace earned 1,882 points during the season. He has already this season accumulated 1,880 points, 140 more than second place Bill Myers, to head the point standings after six weeks of competition.

His wife, Judy, has dominated every ladies' race here thus far, and son Rusty, 18, gives dad fits as a competitor in the late model division.

Another son, Mike, age 17, won two straight feature races in sportsman stock car competition here until defeated last week by Granite City's Steve Krause.

Mike leads the sportsman point standings with 1,265. Kris Krohn of St. Louis is second with 865. Jack Yates and Rod Bailey, both of Granite City, hold down the third and fourth positions.

The late model and sportsman stock cars will be joined Saturday by the St. Louis Auto Racing Association midwets when the weekly racing program starts at 7:30 p.m.

The event will mark the second time this season the midwets will have participated in a tripe-racing card. Pontoon Beach's W.B. Spaulding was successful in capturing his bowl race and the feature race here in the first outing, but St. Louisian Bob Wente Jr. heads the midwet point standing with 40.5 Missouri's Chuck Taylor is second with 40 points.

THERE'S A CATCH TO IT. Debbie Payne, Wood River, shortstop for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville women's softball Cougars, plays right on target and is always willing to give the other guy a hand—if that hand holds the ball.

Braves suffer first loss but bounce back for a 13-6 conquest

The Granite City Braves nine, a member of the Central Illinois Traveling Baseball League, faced a 1-0 back-to-back doubleheader this weekend fresh from tasting defeat for the first time this season.

The Southeast Kiwanis Frosh clipped the local club 6-5 Tuesday at St. Louis. The Braves bounced back yesterday, to win the Atom Optimists 13-6 at home.

The Braves will host the Kirkwood Cardinals in a non-league doubleheader Saturday at the Granite City High School stadium at 1:30 p.m. and then will travel to O'Fallon Sunday for a 1:15 p.m. league doubleheader.

Both O'Fallon and the Braves were 2-0 in league play, while the Braves are 3-1 overall on the season.

Against the Frosh, Braves manager Ron Madden feels his players won the game everywhere except where it counts — on the scoreboards.

They outbit the St. Louis squad 7-5 and played errorless ball to the first four innings. Paul Evans took the loss after the Frosh scored two runs in each of the first, third and fourth innings.

Although the Braves threatened throughout the first four frames, they could not score until the fifth, when Randy Smith, who had three of the Braves' seven hits and a home, tripled and scored on an error.

John Lakin closed the gap to 6-2 in the sixth. He reached base on an error, advanced to third on a pickoff attempt, and scored on a fielder's choice.

In a later inning, the St. Louis hurler walked the bases full, putting Evans, Brian Sikes and Ed Prama on base. All three scored on Lakin's double, ending the Braves' scoring.

The frustration of defeat wore off overnight as the Braves, led in hitting by Sikes, Lakin and Jim Ocker, pounded out 17 hits in defeating Atom.

Sikes led off in the second inning with a triple and scored on a single by Ocker.

The Atom squad would have preferred to leave it at that, but in the third inning the roof caved in on the Atom's Mike Clark and Evans each walked and Randy Smith hit but hit a pitch to load the bases.

Sikes then singled, as did Lakin, Ocker, Tim Monaghan and John Shay, pushing across seven runs for an 8-0 lead.

Atom put a run on the scoreboard in its half of the third, but the Braves came back with three more in the fourth on hits by Evans, Sikes, Lakin and Ocker.

The Braves added runs in the fifth and seventh on a combination of hits by Mike Clark, Sikes, Ocker, and Mike Pichler, giving hurler John Shay ample help in gaining a 3-0 record on the mound.

No. 50 tries harder, finishes No. 1 in rugged cycle rivalry

To an athlete in any sports event, to be number one is his or her ultimate goal, and Texan Guy McClure is no exception. McClure, who started racing motorcycles here at Tri-City Speedway in 1972 and holds the track one-lap time record of 15.42 seconds on the quarter-mile dirt oval, took the number one spotlight Tuesday night.

He rode to victory in every event he entered during the American Motorcycle Association's weekly racing program.

The 20-year-old rider defeated a field of nationally-ranked competitors in accomplishing his feat—Gene Romero, Randy Cleek, Dave Aldana, Rick Hocking, Jimmie Lee, Phil McDonald and Frank Gillespie. A full-time professional racer who logs nearly 1,000 miles each week in traveling to racing events in Michigan, Kentucky and Illinois, McClure captured his heat race and semi-main event and then topped Murray Hoffman, Hocking and Cleek to win the feature race.

AMA competitors are ranked nationally at the end of each year based on their performances during the season and are assigned special numbers, 1-99, accordingly.

Cleek, ranked 29th nationally, captured his heat race and semi but failed in his attempt to win a third straight feature race, finishing fourth in the event.

Aldana of California, ranked 10th in the nation and owner of a winning victory at the 200-mile Talladega road race during his rookie year in 1970, won a heat race but failed to make the semi lineup after experiencing mechanical problems.

Only the top three finishers in each semifinal event—and the fourth-place finisher in the event competed in the fastest time of the three—earned the right to compete in the feature race.

Hocking of California, ranked 13th in the nation and a 1973 American Indoor Championship Series titleholder, also captured a heat race and a semifinal and placed third in the feature behind Hoffman and McClure.

Perhaps the "hard luck" award, if there were one, should go to California's Gene Romero. Ranked third in the nation and a 1970 Grand National champion who has been near the top of the game for seven straight years, placed second behind Ed Ashland in his heat race.

But Romero then failed to qualify for the feature event after finishing fourth in one of the slower-timed semifinals.

events after he had difficulty getting off the starting line.

The 28-year-old winner of this year's Daytona 200-mile race, Romero first made national headlines in 1968 by winning the Lincoln, Neb., national race. He finished that season ranked seventh and has not been out of the top 10 since.

Romero's Grand National championship in 1970 came when he outdueled three of AMA's top competitors—Dick Mann, Aldana and Jim Rice—and took the title with a last-ditch victory in a mile race at Sacramento, Calif.

While Romero believes he has a good chance at being number one again, he acknowledges that AMA racing is becoming more and more competitive—which includes Guy McClure.

Wilson's bat paces Post 307 victory

Madison High School slugger Cedric Wilson, who hit safely in every Trojan game during the 1974-75 season, continued his hot batting Monday for Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307, driving in three runs in a 7-4 victory over visiting East St. Louis in a league contest at Lee Park.

Hurler Kevin Werner evened his record at 1-1, going the distance and fanning nine batters while walking five. Post 307 collected eight hits and East St. Louis four.

Wilson figured in key runs in each of the first and second innings as the local Legion squad garnered three runs in each inning.

Steve McCunney led off the first inning with a hit, Joe Gulash and Pete Pecurka drew walks. Wilson doubled in two runs and Werner singled in the third runner.

In the second inning, McCunney singled, stole second and scored on Gulash's double. Wilson tripled to right field and later scored on a pickoff attempt as the throw went over the third baseman's head.

Approximately 60 clients from Specialized Services are eligible to travel to Chicago on June 26 and 27 to compete in the state Special Olympics event. They won out from among 125 clients who participated in regional Special Olympics held at Belleville Township High School East.

The national meet will be held in Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Aug. 12. For the regional meet, the clients were transported by bus from their areas to the all-day event in Belleville. Ceremonies began with a march led by the host school's band, the Belleville East Lancers.

Following the band were participants from each group, totaling about 400 players in the Olympics.

When the march and the pledge of allegiance were completed, a runner with a torch ran around the track and lit an Olympic flame. It burned at the end of the track throughout the event.

Specialized Services clients took first place gold medals for the following events: 50-yard dash male in first, second and third divisions; second division of the softball throw male; first, second and third divisions of the long jump male; first place in the wheelchair 25-yard dash, wheelchair 30-yard slalom and wheelchair softball throw; male 220-yard run in the first, third and fourth divisions; female 50-yard dash for the first, second, third and fourth divisions; female softball throw in second and fourth divisions; female standing long jump in second divisions; and female high jump in first and second divisions.

Blankenship is Rotary speaker

Madison-Venice Rotarians were told Wednesday about the inter-relationship of business, government and private industry by Clifton Blankenship, supervisor of safety and training at A. O. Smith Corp. Blankenship spoke at the club's noon luncheon at the Madison Recreation Center.

He said he believed many young people do not adequately understand this inter-relationship. He also gave a slide presentation designed to explain the capitalistic profit system to young people.

The Madison-Venice Rotary Club will have a golf tournament at noon, Tuesday, June 17, with the East Alton Rotary Club at Belk Park in Wood River.

New Club officers will be installed Wednesday, June 25, at Charlie's Restaurant. A social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7.

Confirm Hessler as a town auditor

A resolution to clarify the legal status of Auditor Norman Hessler on the Namecki Town Board of Auditors was approved unanimously by the board at its regular meeting Monday night.

Hessler resigned from the board Jan. 13, but was convinced by the other auditors to continue to serve until a suitable replacement could be selected.

The following day, members individually signed a waiver of the need to give notice for a special town board meeting at which Hessler was to be reinstated.

Only Supervisor Louis Whitsett and one board member attended the meeting where Hessler was reinstated. Despite a legal opinion from the township's attorney that two board members can constitute a quorum of the five-member board, opponents have continued to contest Hessler's reinstatement and they have collected documents to support their position.

In order to clarify the issue, a resolution was presented to the board Monday night to confirm the reappointment. The resolution noted, "certain persons have subjected Norman Hessler to unjust criticism regarding the town board's action."

It also states the resolution is "to clarify any misunderstanding that may arise at any future date."

In other business, the board announced that it has decided to grant the supervisor's bookkeeper a $17 per month salary increase and is requesting a full-time bookkeeper for the clerk.

Namecki Township Highway Commissioner Bill Held told the board he will appeal a recent Madison County Circuit Court decision requiring the township to return drainage in the Parkway Estates Subdivision to the natural pattern. The drainage took before the subdivision was constructed.

Held contended returning the land to its original grades would cause many homes to be flooded. He said he will take the case to a higher court.

The board received a request from the State Park Authority Police Department for a $10,000 grant from the township's federal revenue sharing fund to help the department purchase a new police car. The request was taken under advisement by the board.

Auditor Eugene Gargac reported he had attended a meeting of the Township Officials of Illinois organization at which a state proposal for equalizing all assessments was discussed.

Gargac said that after hearing the information presented, he felt Namecki Township residents should oppose statewide equalized assessments.

He requested all township residents and officials to sign letters he had opposing equalized assessments.

A letter from the Township Officials of Illinois to the board noted that bills are pending in the state legislature to eliminate township assessors. The letter gave the opinion that the township form of government is being eliminated little by little and noted if the state can eliminate assessors, "who will be next?"

The document requested township officials and residents to write, telephone or send telegrams to their state representatives opposing the abolishing of township assessors and seeking their support for continuing the township form of government.

The board received copies of a petition from many Dorey Slough residents seeking immediate aid for a high water table in their area which is damaging many homes. The board referred the petition to the East Side Levee and Sanitary District and to the Illinois Division of Waterways.

Supervisor Whitsett told the board that township residents are cooperating well in signing consent forms for the proposed Four Township Sanitary Sewer Program and he hopes to have all consents in the township signed by July 1.

He said a few opponents of the sewer program are being unfair in saying the people have had no choice about the sewer and have not voted on it. "The people voted for sewers when they passed the $50 million state pollution bond issue several years ago. We just now are getting our money from that vote," he said.

He said the idea of sewers to serve Chouteau, Namecki and Venice townships has been discussed publicly for many years, but the state never before offered 75 per cent funding, which has made it possible now to proceed with the planning.

Edward Greer, a member of the Monroe Manor-Bellemeade Place Street Light District, was reappointed to that district by action of the board.

Mrs. Anna Easley, 78, dies

Mrs. Anna Easley, 78, of 2922 Edwards St., died at 9:05 a.m. Tuesday at the home of her son, Robert Easley of Derby, Kan., where she had been visiting.

A native of Jerseyville, Ill., she resided in this area 48 years.

Mrs. Easley was a member of Trinity United Methodist Church and belonged to the Golden Age Circle, senior citizens club.

Her husband, Fred Easley, died in 1957.

Other survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Edwin (Virginia) Lindsay of Falls Church, Va., Mrs. Allen (Anabelle) Henski of Mehlville, Mo., and Mrs. August (Phyllis) Hopke, Granite City; three other sons, Fred Easley of Jerseyville, Paul Easley of Jonesburg, Mo., and Ronald Easley of Granite City; a brother, Charles Hembrow of Brighton, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Gentry and Miss Ella Hembrow, both of Berkeley, Mo.; 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Register Monday at summer playgrounds

Registration for the Granite City Park District's summer recreational program will be held from 9 a.m. until noon Monday at seven playground centers in the community.

Children who will enter the second grade this fall through the sixth grade level may take part in the free seven-week summer program, Mrs. Helen Bjorkman, recreational supervisor, said today.

The youthful participants should register at the playground nearest their own home, she said.

Centers will be located this year at Logan, Marshall, Parkway, Niederhagen, Webster and Wilson grade schools and the Park District Community Center.

Sessions will be held from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, instead of an all-day registration period as in previous years, this summer only a half-day is planned, with the activities to begin at 1 p.m. Monday, Mrs. Bjorkman said.

The program, consisting of arts and crafts, games, puzzles, a free swimming session each week and special trips, is free to park district residents, except that each child must pay a $2 insurance fee. Once a child pays for insurance in any program he is covered until next spring, Mrs. Bjorkman said.

HUNGRY BURGLAR STRIKES

Cash, ground beef stolen by burglar

Forty pounds of ground beef, worth $54, two gallons of tomatoes, $4, and $53 cash were taken in a burglary at The Taco Hut, 3908 Madison Ave., reported at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Joe Morrison, proprietor, said the intruder removed $53 from a sack containing $125, leaving the remaining $72. Entry was gained by prying a screen and window.

Bicentennial Flag Day events across Illinois

Almost 200 years after the Continental Congress adopted the Declaration of Independence and affirmed the "stars and stripes" design for the national flag, people in Illinois will celebrate Flag Day on Saturday with a variety of original and colorful events as part of the continuing Illinois Bicentennial celebration.

While every flag designs such as the Bennington "76" and the "Betsy Ross" fly over homes across the nation, Old Glory and 60 other hot air balloons will be set in flight over Crystal Lake, Ill.

Old Glory, the red, white and blue Bicentennial balloon from the Eagle's Nest Balloon Port, will lead the 50-foot high balloons through an aerial demonstration and into competitive maneuvers. Activities will include ground demonstrations as well as sky diving and aerobatic feats.

Observances also are scheduled elsewhere. According to the Illinois Bicentennial Commission, the Fulton County Bicentennial Commission plans an unusual and exciting recreation that includes audience participation. It is not a play, not a pageant but an involvement—a reenactment of events leading to the Boston Tea Party.

The 60-character reenactment depends on the audience to represent the people of Boston's neighboring town. In return, the audience will, in the emotions aroused under circumstances of "taxation without representation."

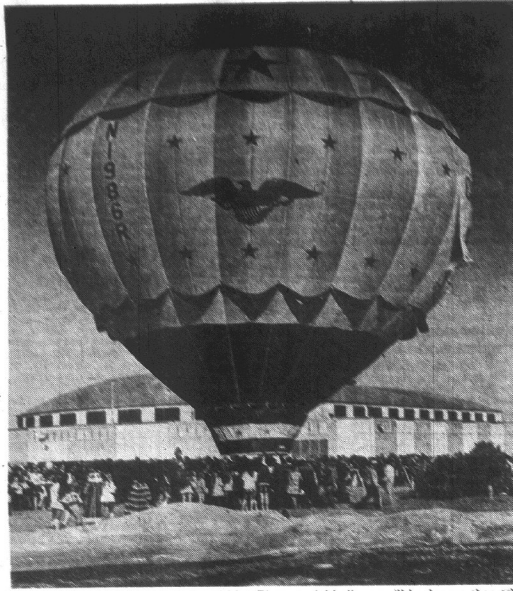

Flag Day in Harvard has been renamed Human Kindness Day. While Bennington "76" flags are flown across the city, special recognition will be awarded to citizens who have performed a kind gesture or community service.

The East Moline Bicentennial Commission reports that the City Council has passed an ordinance which calls for a 31-day celebration of Flag Day between June 14 and July 4.

Flag Day is also the 50th anniversary of the U.S. Army's The Rock Island Arsenal will host a dedication and feast commemoration with a guest speaker, Congressman Thomas Rostenkowski.

Other Illinois communities plan more traditional Flag Day celebrations. The Village of Marissa in St. Clair County will host its flag to a 21-gun salute. Many Bicentennial communities, including Marissa, which have been officially recognized by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, will host a special Bicentennial Flag Day salute.

The public is invited to attend any of the Bicentennial Flag Day events.

OLD GLORY, a red, white and blue Bicentennial balloon, will lead more than 60 hot air balloons in an airborne Flag Day salute Saturday at Crystal Lake. Flag Day events are part of the ongoing Illinois Bicentennial celebration.

Help sought to teach handicapped to swim

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross is seeking volunteers to assist in conducting a "Learn to Swim" program for the physically handicapped.

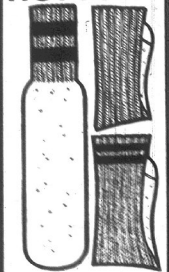

The program, supervised by Jo Ann Higgins, special education instructor for the Granite City School District, will be offered daily during the morning hours in two sessions—July 7 to July 25 and from Aug. 4 to Aug. 22.

Individuals with average swimming ability are being asked to take part in the program and "help us help the handicapped," according to Mike Jessee, Red Cross swimming and lifesaving instructor.

All staff members in the learn to swim series are volunteers and no charge is made to those taking the instruction, Jessee emphasized.

Persons interested in helping at one or both instruction series are invited to contact the local Red Cross office, at 455-7104. The classes will be conducted in the swimming pool at the home of Dr. David Friedman in Granite City, Jessee said.

Centenarian recalls floods, Indians

By GARY KERBEL

Press-Record Staff Writer

In the first 100 years of her life, Mrs. Ida Grove, 2424 Lincoln Ave., has had her share of con men, Indians and floods. She was born on a farm in Nameoki Township April 28, 1875.

Her sister, Annie, died at 14, several years after being crippled by lightning. Mrs. Grove's second husband, James E. Grove, bought a piece of Arkansas farmland in the early 1880s from pictures he had seen. Along with the farm he bought 18 horses—17 of them died of foot-and-mouth disease before he moved to his new land, which was too rocky to farm.

One of Mrs. Grove's sons, James, was born when the Granite City area was flooded in early June 1903 because of a break in the levee. She was moved by a midwife from her Venice home to stay with a friend in Granite City.

When they reached the home, floodwaters were up to the bed of the buggy in which she was riding. But she and her husband had left their money in their flooded home, so she waded and swam from Granite City back to her home in Venice, then failed.

through a tram to get to the house to find his wife. For about two years, the Grove family lived in a log cabin on a Cherokee Indian reservation in Oklahoma. They moved there in a covered wagon from Arkansas after their son failed.

One thing her son, James W. Grove, 2427 Lincoln Ave., remembers about the trip is that he was afraid of centipedes because he had heard they rotted the floor if they crawled across someone.

He also recalls that after stopping for the night, he and his father went four miles down the road they had been traveling to find a tobacco field they had passed because "Pop didn't have no smoke."

In Oklahoma, the Grove family's cabin also housed an Indian family. The Indian father's name was Bushhead. While on the reservation, sons James W. Grove and James L. Jennings (from Mrs. Grove's first marriage) played with the Indian children and learned to speak Cherokee and do the Indian stomp dance.

But playing with the Indians presented its problems. James Grove said his mother would have to boil his and his brother's and sister's clothes, bathe the children and comb their hair, all to de-bug them.

One of the games the Indians played was a type of lacrosse in which the object was to hit a fish atop a 20-foot pole with a leather ball hung from a stick with a hoop that had a netting hung from it. Only the men, however, used these devices; the women, who played the men, used their hands.

The Grove family saw hard times on the Oklahoma reservation. For about three months, Mrs. Grove could only afford to fix gravy from bacon pieces. Her husband had been working in the oil field near the reservation, but decided to find a better-paying job in the Kansas City oil fields.

He didn't find a job there, so Grove moved to East St. Louis and got a job at American Steel Foundries. During the time her husband was looking for a job, Mrs. Grove helped support the family by doing the wash for a wealthy Indian family that had struck oil. She and her children also picked cotton.

Mrs. Grove also sewed clothes for an Indian woman on a sewing machine the woman called a "salabiskit."

Such cooperation between the Groves and the Indians was not uncommon. Mrs. Grove taught the Indians to plant a garden. They couldn't understand why hers grew in rows and theirs grew in clumps.

Her son James Grove also remembers getting a horse-saddle stuck up his foot and having an Indian woman pick it overnight with cow manure. He said the stool began to come out by the next morning.

When Mrs. Grove moved her family back to this area from the Indian reservation, she traveled across the country with three sons, the two James and Theodore, who was born in Arkansas, and a daughter, Lucille, who was born before the family moved from the Granite City area.

The Groves then lived on Denver Street in West Granite City when they came back from the West. Grove worked at Granite City Steel and Cast Iron Works (General Steel Industries) after leaving American Steel Foundries in East St. Louis, where he returned from Oklahoma and Kansas.

In 1914 the family built a home at 2424 Lincoln Ave., where Mrs. Grove still lives. Her last daughter, Eileen, was born there in 1916.

Mrs. Grove's early life was filled with many hard times. She had typhoid when she was 14. When her mother was ill, Mrs. Grove was so young that she had to stand on a box to cook and do dishes for her father and her two sisters, Annie and Augusta, and her brother William.

She went to school two or three days a week, but spent most of her time working on the farm and caring for her sister Annie, who was crippled by lightning.

Mrs. Grove quit school after the sixth grade. Her daughters, Eileen and Lucille, recall that their mother used to tell them they should be glad they could go to school regularly because "I'd get to the head of the class then get bumped because I had missed so much school."

When her mother died of consumption, Mrs. Grove was in her late teens. Annie had died, and William and Augusta were placed into foster homes because the state believed Mrs. Grove was too young to work and care for a family.

She then worked in St. Louis as a maid and would visit Augusta, who was living with a family in the area. But when that family found out she was a maid, they wouldn't allow her to see her mother, her children said.

Mrs. Grove also worked at a nursing home in St. Louis to help pay for the birth of her first child, James Jennings.

After her son was born, she worked at Monarch Rubber Co. in Baden. She got sick from the fumes in the plant, took a leave of absence and later met James E. Grove, whom she married on June 10, 1902.

Her sons James Jennings and Theodore Grove are deceased. James Grove lives at 2527 Lincoln Ave. One daughter, Mrs. William (Lucille) Gregory lives with her mother at 2424 Lincoln Ave. The other daughter, Mrs. Wesley (Eileen) Edwards, lives at 818 Third St.

Post 113 ties and then is edged 3-1

Nine District 22 American Legion baseball games face Granite City area Legion squads, starting today and continuing through the weekend. Four of them will involve Tri-City Post 113.

Post 113, after playing at New Baden to a 3-5 deadlock in a game called because of darkness Tuesday and losing 3-1 at Wilson Park Wednesday to Alton Post 126, now will face Venice-Madison Post 307 at 6 p.m. tomorrow at Lee Park.

Post 113 also will play consecutive games against East Moline and New Baden, the first starting at 4 p.m. Saturday at Wilson Park, and Post 113 will meet East Moline Sunday at 9:30 a.m. at Wilson Park.

The Tri-City Legionnaires have a 12-2 overall record, 0-1 in league action, after the two games this week.

At New Baden, Post 113 collected eight hits to the hosts' seven, and played flawless baseball while New Baden had three errors.

The hosts scored three runs in the first inning and added two in the fifth.

Tom Heinrich walked, Jeff Scarborough reached base on an error and John Pritchard homered for the local squad to tie the contest in the third inning.

Paul Musilli provided Tri-City's lone run in the fifth inning. He singled, stole second and third, and came home after an attempt to pick him off at third resulted in a wild throw.

The tying run in the seventh came when Scarborough reached base on an error, advanced on a fielder's choice, and romped home on Musilli's single.

Alton hurler Bob Schmidt fanned 12 and walked four in his team's win over Post 113. John Scott went the distance for the local squad, striking out seven and walking four in taking the loss.

Post 113's lone run was garnered in the first inning. Jim Kaska blasted a hit toward an outfielder, who fumbled the bouncing ball, allowing the run to be scored.

Alton got two runs in the fourth and another in the fifth.

Collinsville, Carlyle nines defeat Steelers

Glen Carbon American Legion Post 438 lost 7-4 here Monday to Collinsville and booted 7-1 Wednesday at Carlyle.

The Glen Carbon Steelers now play Edwardsville at six o'clock today at the Granite City High School North field and will play Venice-Madison at 2 p.m. Sunday at Lee Park.

Collinsville Pitcher Mike Henry held the Steelers scoreless in six innings while his teammates collected 13 hits for a 7-0 lead going into Post 438's 7-4 run seventh, in which Jeff Foster and Greg Terrell doubled and Billy Carr singled.

Ray Smith took the pitching loss.

Collinsville Pitcher Lackey hurled a two-hitter in defeating the Steelers. Davis Davis went the distance for Glen Carbon.

Post 438 got its lone run in the opening inning when Carr walked, stole second and scored on Harvey Brockner's single.

The host team garnered four runs in the third, two in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Venice-Madison Post 307, which downed visiting East St. Louis on Monday, takes on Fairview Heights today in a six o'clock contest at Lee Park.

Post 307 meets Tri-City Post 113 tomorrow and Post 438 on Sunday.

HEALTH'S-A-POPPIN'

Sleeping drugs may boomerang

By MARRION WELLS

It's 3 a.m. It seems as though the whole world is submerged in soothing slumber. Except you! You still have several more hours to toss and turn before the morning alarm sounds a welcome end to another sleepless night.

Believe it or not, you've got lots of company. One statistic on sleeplessness suggests that close to 30 million Americans may consider themselves "chronic" insomniacs. It's been estimated that we put more money into slumber-inducing drugs than we spend on all other medicines combined.

Now authorities are concluding that continuous use of chemical sleep-inducers may add to the problem they're supposed to help. However, a few relatively simple measures may offer new hope to at least some sufferers. Some of these eye-opening findings may aid you in getting more shut-eye.

First, it's important to recognize that sleep requirements vary according to individual needs. Researchers in sleep laboratories have also discovered that the insomniac may be getting more sleep during the night than he realizes.

Now, what about pills? Sleeping medications are known to interfere with the body's normal sleep pattern. As a long-term treatment for insomnia, it is the opinion of Elliot Weitzman, M.D., a leading brain specialist and chairman of the department of neurology at New York's Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center, that "drugs have been much overused and have led to medical problems and syndromes, which in and of themselves disturb sleep."

A number of studies have shown that sleeping pills may actually lose their effectiveness after only a few weeks of use. They may continue to facilitate a little dozing because the insomniac expects them to help, but disrupting effects of the medication on the pattern of sleep may make that sleep less restful.

Authorities warn that quitting sleeping medication "cold turkey" after prolonged use may produce a reaction involving anything from nightmares and anxiety dreams to more serious physiological effects. You'll be wise to taper off gradually unless under the supervision of your physician.

If relying on pills won't work, what will? Can you and your physician trace your insomnia to an underlying cause? For example, breathing difficulties connected with asthma, bronchitis or heart disease may lead to sleeping problems. Perhaps your insomnia is rooted in mental and emotional "restlessness" and professional counseling might help.

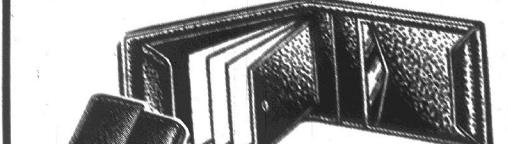

Experts are also recognizing that our body tends to function according to our individual, biological "inner clock." Some of us find it natural to stay up later at night and sleep in the next morning. Others instinctively prefer the "early to bed, early to rise" routine. Experts suggest helping your body to establish regular sleep habits by going to bed at the same time in the same way as often as you can.

Other hints you may find helpful include some moderate activity, such as a short walk, sometime during the day, but not just before retiring. You may want to avoid such stimulants as coffee, tea, cocoa or cola drinks later in the day and try eating a lighter and perhaps earlier evening meal. Some find it helpful to take a warm (not hot) bath or shower or have some warm milk before bedtime.

Percy, Stevenson want policy review before arms spending

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Sen. Charles H. Percy and Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson are urging a national policy review before Congress starts major spending on post-Vietnam defense.

The Illinois senators added their views to opening debate over a House-passed bill to buy arms, not troop strength and conduct research and development.

The Senate later will discuss the B-1 strategic bomber and other strategic systems as well as the tactical arm.

Neither Republican Percy nor Democrat Stevenson thinks the B-1 should go into production until the United States determines its foreign policy and national security needs in the post-Vietnam era.

"Percy, the senior Illinoisan, put this in the context of the 'triad concept' of nuclear defense."

The triad includes long-range bombers such as the B-1, land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles and submarine-launched ballistic missiles.

Percy said a new study of the nuclear triad should be made before a commitment is made to produce and deploy the B-1 and other strategic weapons systems.

He recommended that the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hold a hearing within a year on the triad and alternatives.

He also suggested that the Departments of Defense and State, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, the Central Intelligence Agency and "viable experts and interest groups" begin now on preparatory studies.

"Any such reassessment cannot be taken lightly or concluded promptly," Percy said.

"I believe it would be wise to study the triad concept and all alternatives to it for a year so that our ultimate judgment is based on a policy review."

Stevenson, in his call this month for a policy review, said, "In the wake of Indochina, it is time for the United States to reassess its interests all over the world, and begin to formulate a new one."

"Then the Congress could make a sensible decision on military priorities," he said.

Pending that, Stevenson said, "I think we should spend more money on nuclear safeguards, more money on multi-purpose surface control vessels and less money on such extravaganzas as the Trident submarine, nuclear aircraft carriers and the B-1 bomber."

Stevenson said the U.S. for less than it spends on the B-1 could upgrade its fleet of B-52's or alternatively turn Boeing for Boeing into launching platforms for cruise missiles and perform the B-1 mission more economically and effectively.

Percy, in calling for a new look at the nuclear triad, also said he "opposes any sweeping changes in the defense policy until the foreign policy reassessment is completed."

"Some will argue that with Vietnam behind us and no imminent prospect of another war, we can slash our defense budget," Percy said.

"Others may believe that with Vietnam behind us and some military stock in shortages as a result of the resupply of Israel during and after the Yom Kippur war, we should increase spending to build up our arsenal."

Stevenson, like Percy, said American arms will be up to par during the policy review.

"Without a foreign policy, Congress cannot establish sound military priorities. And, on the other hand, it dare not bankrupt the nation to unacceptable risks by escalating the qualitative strategic arms race," Stevenson said.

"While such a reassessment is in progress, the defense of the United States now in being will be adequate for every contingency that is likely."

The June theme of the Gardeners' Garden Club's Information Center at GCPL is "gardening in the city" with hanging pots, a form of gardening that seems to be growing in popularity all the time.

The materials on display give helpful advice on choosing the right kind of plants and containers.

Flowers blooming—and so is the musk thistle, unfortunately Musk thistle is becoming a serious weed pest in Madison County. The plant has a deep rose to violet or purple color flower and is easy to identify this time of year.

Musk thistle presents its greatest threat to pasture land, authorities say. The mature thistle is covered with sharp spines which livestock shy away from in heavily infested pastures.

Musk thistle can become a problem in fall sown grains, alfalfa or clover if conditions are favorable for seedling establishment.

The weed is normally found along roadsides, railroad rights-of-way, fence borders, wasteland and its pastures.

It will only become established in areas that are not tilled. It is not a serious weed problem in crops requiring a spring seedbed preparation.

Musk thistle is usually a biennial, the plant lives two years and then dies.

As a biennial, the plant produces a rosette the first year and develops flowers and seeds the second year. In some cases, the plant can act like a summer annual and complete its life cycle from germination to seed production in one growing season.

Musk thistle becomes a real threat as a weed pest because of its ability to spread rapidly from seed. The plant produces an average of 10,000 seeds per plant, but under favorable conditions it produces many more.

The plant will have from one to many rose-colored seed heads per plant. The seed is airborne and can be carried by wind for many miles. This makes it important to prevent the plant from going to seed if a person wants to prevent its spread, it is explained.

Musk thistle is new to Madison County in recent years. However, the weed has been a serious pest in Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas for years. In more recent years it has become widespread in Missouri.

The plant has a rose pink to violet or purple colored flower located on the tip of a long stem or branch which bends or nods in the wind.

Blooming starts early in the summer as the first flowers mature, but buds continue to develop and bloom until middle to late August. Since the plant is biennial, there are flowers only on the two-year-old plants.

Musk thistle is a noxious weed in Illinois and its control comes under the Illinois Noxious Weed Law. It is the benefit of every landowner to control the plant on his property, but in many cases the weed is on public property.

The thistle is readily controlled by cultivation on land in row crops. It is susceptible to 2,4-D and can be controlled with this herbicide if used properly.

Once the thistle is in bloom as it is now, it is not very susceptible to 2,4-D. However, the plant is quite susceptible to 2,4-D in the spring when the plant is actively growing before the emergence of flower buds.

It also is susceptible in the fall when spray is used on first-year rosettes. Mowing by itself on two-year-old plants is not effective, since the plant will develop flower heads below mowing height. The combination of mowing and 2,4-D does have some effect.

Every Madison County landowner is being asked to take an interest in control of musk thistle. Because of the high seed producing ability of the plant, it could become an increasingly serious problem in the future.

Set deadline for fireworks permit

The last day for any group of three or more persons residing in an unincorporated area of the county to apply for a fireworks permit for a Fourth of July display at the office of County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles at Edwardsville, will be June 30.

The state law requires that application for a permit must be made at least 15 days prior to the display.

The Illinois law requires the display to be handled by a competent individual, designated by the chairman of the County Board.

Applicants are required to list three responsible persons who would be in charge of the fireworks. Nelson Hagauer, County Board chairman, designates one of the three to supervise the fireworks display.

Warn of big state deficit

Record-high spending is driving the state's day-to-day operating funds toward their largest fiscal-year deficit in history, despite near-record tax collections, Comptroller George W. Lindberg warned Monday.

"The result is that the state's operating funds, including grant money for our schools and welfare program, are being exhausted by June 1976."

"At that point, the taxpayers of Illinois may be hit with either a tax hike or cuts in state services," the comptroller said.

"I know that the General Assembly is aware of this situation. If further deterioration of the state's financial condition is to be averted, the members must chop every ounce of fat from the spending requests now before them," Lindberg said.

By June 30, when the 1974-75 fiscal year ends, balances in the state's general operating funds will have dropped by about $140 million from a year ago, the comptroller's ledger show.

This is approximately double the deficit projected by the governor three months ago in his budget, which means he will have $72 million less to offset the estimated deficit of $215 million he plans next year, Lindberg said.

"The state's financial position is becoming precarious," Lindberg added. "Our bank book is in worse shape than the governor has anticipated in his budget for next year."

Lindberg said the governor's $215 million projected spending deficit for 1975-76, which begins July 1, coupled with what appears to be the governor's low estimate of public aid demands for that year, could "bankrupt the general funds before the end of fiscal 1977."

Public spending estimates in the governor's 1974-75 budget and the 1975-76 projections now appear low by at least $100 million, Lindberg said in a special analysis portion of his monthly financial report.

The report shows that during the first 11 months of the fiscal year, which began last July 1, general operating fund income is $383 million above the same period in the previous fiscal year, but expenditures exceeded the comparable 11-month period a year earlier by $614 million.

Charles Key dies at 57

Charles Baker Key, 57, of 1296 Keebler Road, Collinsville, Ill. for 15 years, died at his home at 3:25 p.m. Tuesday.

Born in Granite City, he resided here for 44 years before moving to Collinsville.

Mr. Key was a retired employee of Granite City Steel. He was a member of St. John United Church of Christ, Collinsville, Masonic Lodge 835, Shriner, and Scottish Rite Bodies.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Key; two sisters, Mrs. Violet Miller of Granite City and Mrs. Martha Silvey of Palmyra, Ill.; and his mother, Mrs. Leoda Coben of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Macrame workshop for Cloverview

Mrs. Walter Padgett instructed Cloverview Garden Club members in making macrame for hanging baskets at an all-day workshop held last week at the Nameki Recreation Center.

The instructor displayed other macrame items and described various methods of making wall hangings, belts and necklaces, among other items.

A hanging basket filled with foliage plants will be donated to the Colonial Haven Nursing Home as part of a continuing project of the club.

Several members also attended last week's rose luncheon hosted by the Edwardsville Garden Club at Eden United Church of Christ. A total of 90 women, representing the 14 clubs in District V attended, including Mrs. Eldon Meikamp, Mrs. B. C. O'Neill and Mrs. Richard Branding of Cloverview.

AT HOME. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paul Deidiker, who are residing in Granite City. The bride is the former Miss Patricia Lyn Hines, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Hines, 2420 Glen Place. The wedding took place at Suburban Baptist Church.

Deidiker-Hines wedding at Suburban Baptist

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paul Deidiker are making their home in Granite City. The couple was married March 28 at Suburban Baptist Church. The Rev. Bob F. Worley officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 in the evening. Wedding selections were played by Wayne Fisher.

Mrs. Deidiker is the former Patricia Lyn Hines, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Hines, 2420 Glen Place. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deidiker, 2523 Pine St.

The attendants were Mrs. Revely Derossett and Mrs. Donna Dobson, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Yvonne Corley. All wore Empire-style gowns of chiffon over taffeta in pastel shades of blue, pink and yellow. Their flowers were daisies, carnations and baby's breath, fashioned into nosegays.

The bridal gown of white satin and Chantilly lace was designed and made by the groom's mother. The high neckline and long sleeves were appliqued with embroidered lace, etched with pearls.

An overlay of Chantilly lace tiers formed the skirt and swept into a cathedral train. Her veil of illusion was secured to a Juliet cap, and she carried a cascade of Sweetheart roses, carnations, white Elegance and stephanotis, with sprigs of baby's breath and leather leaf.

Larry Garner, the groom's brother-in-law, was best man. Groomsmen were Clint Barnhart and John Bucherle, also a brother-in-law.

Steve Derossett and Marvin Boyer, brothers-in-law of the couple, acted as the ushers.

Donna Garner and Joe Bauman, nieces of the groom and bride, respectively, wore long pink frocks with puff sleeves trimmed in white lace. Each carried a white basket filled with petals.

Mike Bucherle, the groom's nephew, was ringbearer.

After the service, a reception was held at the Long Lake Farmers' Hall and the newlyweds traveled to the Lodge of the Four Seasons in the Missouri Ozarks on their honeymoon trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Deidiker attended Granite City High School. The groom is employed at Granite City Steel.

WANDA FAY FLEY.
In a cemetery not far away lies two beautiful darlings.
They didn't get to live their lives on this earth.

Maybe God needed them in his heavenly church.
We have missed them and loved them all these years.
And through the dark nights we have shed many a tear.
But we will meet them again on that beautiful shore.
And be with them and love them

Much that is favorable in the outlook for steelmakers

By G. J. FRANGOULIS
Rowland and Company

The outlook for the steel industry now appears more favorable than in almost two decades.

Steel company earnings at the trough of this business cycle should be nearly equal to earnings at the peak of previous cycles.

The U. S. once again ranks among the world's most efficient steel producers as cost structures have shifted worldwide.

Its competitive advantage is likely to increase because of the relatively low cost and abundance of its resources, its improved labor conditions and its accessibility to large consuming markets.

We expect that the upward trend of steel production will resume in 1976.

U. S. consumption in 1975 may fall to 107 million tons. For 1976, we forecast 113 million tons.

The long-term growth in energy demands should be a boon to steelmakers, the industry benefiting both from needs for the heavy steel-using equipment of drilling rigs and mining, and from requirements for pipelines, railcars and other energy transmission facilities.

Steel demands will also be buoyed by increased spending for new plants and machinery by major "shortage" industries, such as the chemical, nonferrous metals, paper and forest products and agricultural businesses.

Recently the steel stocks have been strong market performers.

We do not regard this strength as a temporary phenomenon but rather as evidence of the growing recognition of the fundamental improvement in the U. S. industry's structure.

With annual returns on book values approaching 20 per cent, and with steel stocks still selling at large discounts from book values, a dramatic expansion in P-E multiples of steel stocks is likely.

The steelmaking equation is little changed in recent years:

each ton of raw steel requires about a half ton of coal and one-half ton of iron ore.

The costs of these raw materials, however, have changed significantly.

Lake Superior iron ore ranged between $10.95 and $11.60 a ton during the 1960s. Today, the price is $17.28.

Chief foreign ore exporters, which include Australia, Latin America and India, have all recently contracted to export ore at $16.42 a ton.

The shift in pricing control to the resource-supplying countries should continue.

Of the world's ten largest steelmaking nations, only four have substantial domestic ore production.

Coal supplies available to many of the leading steel-producing nations are also inadequate.

The annual coal production in many countries has been steadily declining as older mines have been exhausted.

Also, in countries such as the United Kingdom and West Germany, steel must compete with the utilities for the available coal.

The buyers' market for coal and iron ore that had existed for about 15 years appears to have given way to a long-term sellers' market.

The transition was started by the record steel demand in 1972, 1973 and 1974 and was aided by the example of the OPEC cartel during the energy crisis.

But the fact that coal and ore prices are continuing to rise even during the 1975 recession indicates a now deep-rooted price control by the resource nations.

Moreover, certain of these are developing their own domestic steel production and this is likely to exert, overtime, upward pressure on world markets.

This suggests that, in the future, access to abundant and low cost coal and ore will be nearly as essential to steelmakers' profitability as plant efficiency.

The advantage that U. S.

companies have in coping with this change in the raw materials market is their high degree of integration through vast iron ore and coal holdings.

Because these holdings were mostly acquired years ago, they place present-day U. S. resource costs at levels well below current world costs.

This will be a key factor in allowing the U. S. to recapture a position as a low-cost supplier of steel.

Although the labor costs of U. S. mills are considerably higher than those of other countries, the gap has started to narrow.

Our mills have markedly improved productivity: over the past 20 years, U. S. output has grown by 26 per cent while payrolls have been reduced by 19 per cent and today, the U. S. produces 12 per cent more steel with 13 per cent fewer workers than a decade ago.

Japan and most competing countries are now experiencing a substantially higher rate of consumer price inflation and, concomitantly, wage inflation than that of the United States.

Japanese steel workers' wages have increased by more than 15 per cent annually over the past five years and in 1974 alone were up about 30 per cent.

These developments in turn indicate that the U. S. steel industry will at last overcome the import problem that has plagued it for so many years.

In the past, imports captured a significant share of tonnage and adversely affected the U. S. industry's pricing.

During the 1964-1971 period when U. S. consumption rose 14.5 million tons, foreign producers took most of the growth, holding the domestic producers' gain to only two million tons.

This year, overall import tonnage is likely to approximate the 1974 total of 16 million tons.

The first half of the year will probably account for about 60 per cent of the year's total, owing to orders placed in late 1974 for first-quarter 1975 delivery as a hedge against a low coal strike.

Our tentative estimate of maximum 1976 imports is about 13 million tons. But if world steel demand is on the rise, as we expect it will be, imports may well be less than 10 million tons.

The basis for optimism seems clear.

Major foreign producers that were gaining a U. S. market share, especially Japan and Western European companies, reaped large benefits from physical and technological advantages in production facilities, while U. S. producers were operating with older plant and equipment.

They also benefited from easy access to cheap raw materials from developing countries.

And the disruptive strikes of U. S. steelworkers resulted in a staircase progression of imports into our seacoast markets.

The foreign plant advantages are now rapidly disappearing and raw material costs have increased much faster for foreigners than for U. S. producers because of our favorable integration with respect to coal and ore.

And, lastly, the labor outlook today seems far less volatile than in the past.

Thus, after many years of tuttle efforts by the industry to have its import problems solved through political action, relief finally appears to be in sight as a result of the economic forces that have driven up the cost of producing steel abroad.

The U. S. is now among the world's lowest cost steel producers.

And this competitive advantage is likely to widen because of the resources, improved labor conditions, and easy accessibility to the large consuming markets.

Since most U. S. steel companies are highly integrated and own substantial mineral reserves, usually at low prices, they are assured of more stable costs for future operations than the foreign producers, who must import their raw materials.

Will schedule registration in Selective Service system

Young men born in 1957 or earlier years who did not register with Selective Service before April 1, this year will be required to register during the first annual registration period expected to be early in 1976.

Young men who did register before April 1, 1975, will not be required to register again.

The state director of Selective Service for Illinois, Lt. Col. W. Robert Kinschiff, will distribute an announcement later this year reminding young men of their registration obligation under the Military Selective Service Act.

The announcement will clarify facts about when young men may register with Selective Service.

Col. Kinschiff said: "Until April 1, 1975, young men were required to register within a few days of their 18th birthday. President Ford stopped that registration procedure and directed planning for a one-year period of registration."

"The Selective Service system is now planning annual registration. The first period when annual registration may be accomplished is expected to be early in 1976."

In Washington, D. C., Byron V. Peptone, director of Selective Service, said, "As soon as the new procedure has been proclaimed by the President, we will launch a nationwide publicity campaign to inform the public of the dates of annual registration."

Col. Kinschiff said, "News media will be asked to give local publicity to the places where young men are to register in their communities."

CAR IS LOOTED
Items worth about $470 were stolen from the auto of Richard Fanning, 2912 Saratoga Ave., parked at Bowland, 5050 Nameoki Road, this week.

Taken were a set of golf clubs with a bag and shoes, a tape player and two speakers, nine tape recordings, a bowling ball and bag and tools and screwdrivers. About $50 damage was done to the car's dashboard.

State exam given in Braille

Director Ronald E. Stackler, Illinois Department of Registration and Education, has announced that an Illinois Real Estate License Examination has been given in Braille for the first time.

This new procedure, developed by the department in cooperation with the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, provides sightless applicants for real estate licenses the same opportunity provided other applicants for these tests.

The department provides comprehensive testing each month for persons wishing to be licensed as real estate brokers and salesmen.

In the past, readers for the department have administered the examination when sightless persons have applied, but now Braille printing will give the sightless applicant equal opportunity with the other applicants for direct communication with the printed text.

Braille printing facilities of the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation were used to prepare the examinations.

On June 3, a man residing in Collinsville was the first sightless applicant to take the Real Estate examination in Braille.

School memorial

Two trees were planted and dedication ceremonies were held at "Parkview" Thursday honoring the late Marion Stawar, former school custodian. The plaque was presented by Karl Stawar, a niece, in behalf of the children, faculty and PTA.

The plaque will hang in the school. Members and friends of the family present in addition to his wife, Mary, were son, Arion Jr., brother, Walter Stawar and wife, Louise, friends and other relatives.

FPA AWARDS of the Future Homemakers of America Chapter at Granite City High School North are presented to Miss Connie Guebert, right, by Donella Gibbs, president of the North FPA chapter. Miss Guebert won both the Traveling Plaque and the Miss FPA award, the organization's highest honors.

Wins top homemakers awards

Miss Connie Guebert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Guebert, 4726 Vincent Ave., Granite City, won the two highest awards of the year in the Future Homemakers of America chapter at Granite City High School North.

One award, a traveling plaque, was presented to Miss Guebert for having earned the highest number of points during the school year.

The other highest award is a trophy presented to "Miss FPA." All of the girls vote by secret ballot for the girl that they believe has contributed the most throughout the school year to the club.

Both of these awards were presented to Miss Guebert by Donella Gibbs, president of the North FPA chapter. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Bankley, 4175 Breckenridge Lane.

These awards were presented at FPA's Mother-Daughter Banquet held at the Granite City Army Officers Club.

Better buses, communications, fare collection

The Bi-State Development Agency is scheduled to receive an Illinois capital improvement grant of $1,124,000 in the 1975-76 fiscal year.

This state grant, along with $2,744,000 from the Urban Transportation Administration, will provide funding for further updating and modernizing of the Bi-State Transit System in the St. Louis and Illinois area. It is anticipated that over 70 new transit coaches will be purchased under the grant. Sixty-five of these will be replacements for buses which are over 12 years old.

These new air-conditioned 40-passenger vehicles will assure Illinois residents of dependable, on-time performance, a Bi-State spokesman said. The new buses will be fitted with special emission control equipment to reduce pollution and noise levels.

The remaining five buses will be 15-20-passenger vehicles which will be used to initiate a "dial-a-ride" demand responsive service.

This experimental service is presently being planned for portions of the Illinois service area.

All buses will be equipped with two-way radios and modern, sophisticated fare collection systems.

The radios will provide a positive contact between the driver and a central radio facility. Through this contact, Information on potential delays can be forwarded and emergency situations can be closely monitored.

The fare collection equipment will have capabilities of categorizing passengers based on fare. The proposed fare collection system is "vandal-proof and theft resistant."

It will have capabilities for monitoring fuel usage and daily mileage. It also will provide data on vehicle component conditions.

In addition to the above, 38 passenger shelters are to be installed in the Illinois area. The spokesman said these will provide riders a pleasant weather-resistant place at which to wait for buses. The shelters will be placed at key locations throughout the service area.

Funds also will be used to modernize and equip storage and shop facilities.

Elmore-Brown nuptials at St. John United

MR. AND MRS. MARK ELMORE. They were united in marriage in an afternoon ceremony at St. John United Church of Christ. The former Miss Barbara Ann Brown, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stone, 300 Highway 203, Madison.

Bouquets of white pom poms and colored daisies, arranged with baskets of palms, decorated the sanctuary of St. John United Church of Christ for the wedding on May 31 of Miss Barbara Ann Brown and Mark Mitchell Elmore.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stone, 300 Highway 203, Madison. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Elmore Jr., 2805 Whippoorwill Lane.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 3 o'clock in the afternoon was the Rev. Dr. Paul Surbey. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Irene Barrick, organist, played "We're Only Just Begun," "Wedding Song," "Theme song from Romeo and Juliet" and "The Lord's Prayer." For her wedding, the bride chose a white crepe bridal gown designed with a yoke of cluny lace. Lace also created the high stand-up neckline and long gathered sleeves.

She wore a flat halo-style headband to secure her shoulder length veil and she carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers with baby's breath.

Honor attendant Mrs. Janetie Aufderheide wore a full-length gown of ecru daisies organza over tulle. White lace trimmed the short puff sleeves, square neckline and a deep ruffled flounce at the skirt hem.

Miss Susan Elmore, a sister of the groom, was a bridesmaid and Miss Gayla Stone, the bride's sister, served as junior attendant.

They chose identically styled dresses in pink and blue. Each wore a white picture hat with ribbon streamers in colors to match her gown and carried a multi-colored bouquet of mixed flowers.

The groom chose Eric Robert as his best man, Ron Kuzma, Stephen and Leroy Elmore, cousins of the groom, and Jim Aufderheide completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Mrs. Stone, mother of the bride, wore a peach color dress and Mrs. Elmore, the groom's mother, selected a mint gown.

A reception was held in the church parlors. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore, on the evening preceding the service.

The couple is now residing in Granite City following a honeymoon trip to Tan-Tar-A Resort in the Ozarks.

A graduate of Madison High School, the former Miss Brown is now employed at Brune Management Co., St. Louis.

The groom was graduated from Granite City High School in 1974 from Ranken Technical School. He is working at Counts Heating and Air Conditioner Co.

Man is slashed, another charged

Steve Hall, 20, of 2068 Lincoln Ave., was cut severely with a knife at a home at 2 Middlefield Circle at 10:30 p.m. Monday.

Richard Caldwell, 35, 81 Louis, was being held today in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville, charged with aggravated battery in connection with the case.

Mrs. Lou Caldwell, 31, the occupant of the house, said Hall and Brenda Wors, 17, of 2448 Center St., were visiting and were going to babysit for her. She said her former husband, Richard Caldwell, came to the house. He allegedly tried the kitchen telephone from the wall and went outside to get a knife from his car.

Brenda Wors locked herself in the bathroom as Mrs. Caldwell locked the front door; it was related. They alleged that Caldwell broke open the front door and then broke the door to the bathroom, holding a knife against Brenda Wors' body.

Mrs. Caldwell rushed into a room where Hall had fallen asleep to attempt to use the telephone there. She alleged her husband kicked that door open and then cut Hall.

Brenda Wors was said to have run from the house and asked a neighbor to call police.

Hall said that after he was cut, he ran for his car, which was in front of the house.

His brothers were still inside the house, so he ran to a friend's home and the friend drove him to the hospital, he reported.

He was treated for cuts to both shoulders and scratches to his back and left upper arm. He was admitted in fair condition.

Venice cyclists must pay city wheel tax fee

Venice motorcycle riders will be required to obtain city motorcycle tax tags under a ruling approved by the Venice City Council Tuesday night.

The fee for motorcycles will be $1 and must be paid at the city's office in the Venice City Hall.

Comptroller Carl Byrnes said that while no special tags were provided for motorcycles this year, the payment will be required under a decision by the council that all vehicles requiring state licensing also must be licensed with the city.

Byrnes said provisions will be made for a motorcycle tag for the 1975 year. Meanwhile, regular passenger car tax stickers will be issued to motorcycle operators as a means of showing that they have paid the tax.

GC School Board approves supply, service contracts

The Granite City Board of Education voted Tuesday night to purchase 60 new IBM typewriters for typing classes at both Granite City High Schools at a total cost of $26,700. The units will cost $405 each and $60 will be allowed for each of the 40 used machines being traded in, reducing the district's cost per typewriter to $345.

The IBM units were selected as the best from eight bids received. Although the IBM units were $56.63 higher each than similar models from Royal and Olivetti, the school district administration recommended the IBM units for what it felt to be better trade-in values, ease of servicing, more time without breakdowns and other reasons, it was explained.

The board also accepted a service contract with IBM Corp. which is expected to cost the district about $77 next year for typewriter repairs on the new units.

Thirty-four of the units are to be placed at Granite City High School South and 26 will be used at GCIS North.

The board accepted the recommendation of music director Joe Owens that a Kawai brand grand piano be purchased from Jack Johnson Music of Granite City for $3,200. The bid was the lowest of several received on different brands of grand pianos. The piano will be used at Granite City High School North.

Three firms were selected on the basis of low bid to specifications to provide first-aid supplies. Cripps First Aid & Medical supply was awarded a contract for items totaling $1,115; School Health Supply Co. received orders totaling $2,331, and Narco Drug Co., Inc., was selected for items costing a total of $80.

Contracts totaling $1,991 were awarded to four lumber companies to supply lumber and plywood for the district next year. Contract totals were:

Duffin Brothers Lumber $202; O'Neil Lumber $333; Illinois Lumber $985, and Great Central Lumber $440.

Southern Illinois Plate Glass Co. received a contract totaling $457 and PFG Industries, Inc., received a contract for $369 to supply glass for the district in the upcoming year.

The board also selected Granite City Glass Co., the local supplier of glass cut to sizes due to the rapid availability of the glass on short notice.

Nine calculators and adding machines were purchased on the basis of low bids to specifications. The Morco Co. was selected to supply machines totaling $3,675. Burroughs Co. received a $363 contract and Eppler-Marstan Co. was awarded a $219 contract.

Sidener Supply Co. was selected for a $522 contract to supply pipe and valve fittings with Central Hardware Co. to supply items totaling $57.

Birmingham and Prosser Co. was selected to supply 10,000 reams of spirit process duplicating paper for $1,540. Graham Paper Co. previously was selected to supply the paper, but notified the board they were unable to obtain the paper for delivery.

The board also was informed that Gardner Audio Visual was unable to supply five filmstrips covers the board ordered for $113.87 each. The model ordered no longer is being produced, it was explained.

Valiant Instructional Materials was the second lowest bidder at $131.75 for a similar model and a contract was awarded to that firm for five viewers for a $658 total contract.

Tully A. Heubner, director of business affairs for the district, was authorized to purchase 100 gallons of green paint at $8.05 per gallon, a total of $805, from the Paintcraft Co., Galesburg, Ill. The paint will be to cover new boards in the outdoor bleachers at the GCIS South football field.

A special purchase of freon from Crescent Parts & Equipment Co. for emergency repairs to the Johnson School air conditioners was approved.

The board approved the payment of bills totaling $57,120 from the building fund, $6,723 from the transportation fund, $222 from the joint agreement fund, $2,361 from the building fund, and $2,445 from federal funds.

New levee split bill

A new attempt to obtain passage of legislation to allow separate levee districts in Madison and St. Clair Counties is being made by State Rep. Horace Calvo, D-Granite City, who has filed new bills with the House Cities and Villages Committee.

As vice chairman of that committee, Calvo has filed the legislation as a "committee bill" which means that it does not have to be studied by other committees and can be advanced directly to the House floor for a vote.

Calvo filed four bills early this year allowing a split of the present levee district on county lines, but that legislation was killed by the Counties and Townships Committee. The new bill embodies the contents of those measures.

It allows a circuit judge to set an election to set up a new district upon a petition signed by 10 percent of the legal voters of the proposed new district. St. Clair County political forces have opposed efforts by Madison County legislators to split the existing levee district into separate Madison and St. Clair County units.

A bill sponsored by State Rep. Monroe Flinn, D-Cahokia, was approved and a subsequent referendum approved his plan to replace the present district with one administered by an appointed board of trustees.

STRUCK, ROBBED

Mack H. Dickerson, 28, of Chicago, was struck on the head with a pipe by three persons in an auto who robbed him of a black carrying case. The men had picked him up as he was hitchhiking on I-70 near the Black Lane exit. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital here at 4:06 a.m. today after being treated for a two-inch cut to his head.

County ups fees at nursing home

The Madison County Board Monday voted to raise the monthly charge for patients at the county nursing home at Edwardsville by $101 per month.

The boost, from $449 to $550 per month, was necessitated by increasing costs of health care, William Webb of Granite City, a member of the county board's health institutions committee, explained. Webb said the increase has been under consideration for some time.

The board also issued a directive to Illinois Public Aid that the full charge must be paid for public aid recipients. The nursing home has 36 residents.

The board agreed to purchase a building at 219 North Main St., Edwardsville, to house the county's water, testing laboratory and other offices. A new water testing lab, being described as the most sophisticated in the state, is to be assembled in the new building.

The former Knights of Columbus building which presently houses the lab and other offices, is to be demolished this year for construction of a new Madison County Jail.

In other action, the County Board ratified a contract with the International Union of Operating Engineers' Local 520, covering Madison County sheriff's deputies, and with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, covering many county employees.

"Porky Meals With Horseradish" was the topic of a lesson presented to the Granite City Unit of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association by local leaders, Mrs. Althea Taylor and Mrs. Elmer Parks. The group met last week at Grace Baptist Church.

The leaders told how horseradish is planted, harvested and ground for home and commercial use. Several dishes had been prepared for sampling and "Horseradish Recipe Books" were distributed. New officers were elected and the following will be installed at the next meeting: First vice-chairman, Mrs. John Sever; second vice-chairman, Mrs.

Stanley Owea and treasurer, Mrs. Elmer Parks. The hostesses, Mrs. Anna Noth, Mrs. Hilda Griffith, Mary Blankenship and Mary Zikovich, served a variety of homemade cakes and coffee to Mrs. Rose Johnson, a guest, and 23 members.

Mrs. Julius Sobczak, unit chairman, said a country store booth is planned at the next meeting. Members were asked to bring handmade articles or "white elephants" items. The July 2 meeting will be at the Grand Cafe, starting at 12:30 p.m. Maximum cost will be $2. Reservations can be made with Mrs. Rufus Ramsey through June 20.

Guild honors 'golden age' ladies

The Afternoon Guild met at St. John United Church of Christ last week for a potluck luncheon and to honor its "golden age" ladies. Also honored were Mrs. Helen Love and Mrs. Ivy Branden, who observed birthdays.

Mrs. Catherine Roman gave the opening prayer. The tables were decorated with arrangements of artificial flowers in pastel shades which came from Mexico. Golden age ladies who were honored, included Grace Branding, Louise Brinkhoff, Caroline Brockmann, Amanda Deutchmann, Laura Plack, Freda Plackbeard, Clara Harbig, Anna Kummern, Anna Meyer.

Minnie Pike, Sophia Pufalt, Clara Redman, Datherine Roman, Mayne Schaefer, Amelia Stogelmeyer, Amelia Willard, Emma Branding, and Vera Schilling. General chairman Mrs. Marie Widdows presided at the session and reported on a spring workshop held in Collinsville. Mrs. Minnie Krauskopf gave the sick report. Mrs. Ellen Ehler described the results of May Fellowship Day and requested donations of clothes and cash for needy families. A letter from a missionary in India, read by Mrs. Widdows, stated any items sent to the overseas mission will be welcomed. The group agreed to continue sending rolled bandages. Those planning to attend the July picnic were asked to bring a prize for the games.

Mrs. Butler is elected

Eta Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Sorority met at the Granite City Elks Club last week and elected officers for the forthcoming year. Plans for the sorority's national convention, set Friday, Saturday and Sunday in St. Louis, also were reviewed.

Mrs. Shirley Morgan, Mrs. Lou Hodge and Miss Betty Krug were appointed to plan an installation party in July.

Miss Krug, the retiring president, announced 16 active members, three honorary and six alumni members plan to attend the convention at the Marriott Hotel during the weekend. Prizes were won by Mrs. Richeson and Miss Eunice Hatcher. Also present were Mrs. Millie Greathouse and Miss Kathryn Weddell.

Washing the electric blanket

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK Madison County Extension Adviser Home Economics Before you put your electric blanket to "bed" for the summer, remember that all manufacturers agree on this basic rule: washing is the only safe way to keep electric bedding clean. In fact, it should be laundered often, before soil becomes embedded in the fibers. If you don't about to launder your first electric blanket, heed these simple rules:

First, disconnect the control and shake the blanket to remove dust. Second, scrub soiled headings lightly with a scrub brush and pre-treat any stains that same way. Next, soak the entire blanket in cool suds for about ten minutes. Then put it into clean suds — as warm as a baby's bath. Wash and rinse it at the same temperature, using an adequate amount of soap or detergent and plenty of water. Avoid prolonged machine agitation or tumbling. Instructions usually suggest not more than three minutes of machine action. A short spin cycle will remove most of the water, and any remaining moisture can be gently pressed out by hand. Never put an electric blanket through a wringer.

For hand-washing, use the bathtub which is large enough to immerge even a double blanket without crowding. Observe the same rules as to water temperature. Instead of rubbing, use a plunger's plunger to "suck" the suds through the fabric. This loosens soil and eliminates lifting and squeezing the blanket. Manufacturers recommend drying an electric blanket over two parallel clotheslines to dry, straightening the edges and corners. And remember this: Electric blankets are permanently moth-proofed during manufacturing and need not be given further anti-moth treatment.

Truth Circle ends season

Truth Circle met in Niedelghaus United Methodist Church parlor last week for a monthly meeting, conducted by Mrs. Betty Williams, circle leader.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Mary Piper, co-leader, who used an article from Response magazine, entitled "A Woman's Fulfillment in Christ" by Martha Mills Dixon. The lesson compared how Christ dealt with women in His ministry and the modern aspect of equal rights.

Plans were made to attend a mission encounter at McKendree College in Lebanon and to continue working during the summer on items for the fall bazaar.

The next meeting will be held in September in the home of Mrs. Dolores Allen.

A dessert course was served by the hostesses, Edna Davis and Regina Jones, to a guest, Mrs. Earl Phillips, wife of retired minister Dr. Earl C. Phillips and to Mesdames Elizabeth Briggs, Kathryn Richardson, Fern Hahn, Edna Stieh, Katharina Treaswell, Shirley Loy, Geneva Miller, Elsie Elmore and those named.

Mrs. Hildred Lewis is class hostess

Mrs. Hildred Lewis, 3202 Calgate Place, was hostess to the Good News Sunday School Class of Suburban Baptist Church last week. Mrs. Lucille Veach gave the devotional, "The Road to Life."

Business discussions were led by Mrs. Georgia Harlow, who said a gift will be sent to the member who is hospitalized. A donation also was authorized to the vacation Bible school.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mesdames Edna Jackson, Mary L. Summers, Evelyn Mohr, Wanda Bradford and Ella Mae Watts. Mrs. Jackson gave the dismissal prayer.

Price traces democracy to ancient Greece

"The United States is living proof that the ideals of Pericles and the great men of Athens work in our modern world," Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) told parishioners of Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church during the weekend. The church is celebrating its 25th anniversary as a part of the St. Louis community this year.

Cong. Price praised the inheritance given the nation by the Greek community, recalling that basic ideals of freedom and democracy have their roots in the ancient Greek civilization. He described Sts. Constantine and Helen in particular as a landmark and an integral part of the area since the church was first built on Gaty Avenue. Presently, the parish buildings are located in the 6800 block of State Street.

STAFF ADDITION at St. Elizabeth Hospital's new Food Service Department is Barbara Carver, Glen Carbo, as therapeutic dietitian. The new department replaces services formerly provided under contract with a national food service which provided its own directors and dietitians.

Three join staff of new food service unit at St. Elizabeth

St. Elizabeth Hospital has established its own Dietary Department and food service system and has employed a food service director and two dietitians as additions to the staff. It was announced Tuesday.

The new food service operation replaces that formerly provided under contract with a national food service which provided the operation.

Mike May, St. Cloud, Minn., has been employed as the food service director. Other staff additions are Cheryl Raush, St. Louis, as chief administrative dietitian, and Barbara Carver, Glen Carbo, as therapeutic dietitian.

May was graduated from St. Cloud State College, St. Cloud, Minn., with a B.A. in psychology. He also attended McKendree College in Lebanon, Ill.

Prior to coming to St. Elizabeth's, May was employed as the director of dining services for Western State College in Gunnison, Colo. He has worked in four additional food service operations at colleges and industrial institutions in Illinois and Ohio, and was involved in in-plant feeding and vending as an employee of Lear Jet in Wichita, Kan.

Cheryl Raush was graduated from Indiana State University in August 1970 with a B.S. in foods and nutrition and a minor in science.

She served her internship at Hines VA Hospital in Hines, Ill., and was graduated there in June 1971. She worked as a clinical dietitian for over a year at Mount Sinai in Chicago and two and half years at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

Barbara Carver was graduated from the University of Missouri, Columbia, with a B.S. in home economics. She served an internship at Columbia Medical Center and worked there for a year and a half as a clinical dietitian.

The hospital also has instituted a new food delivery service by Aladdin Synergetics, Inc., which produces and markets meal distribution systems for hospitals and institutions. Termed Temp-Rite, a major feature of the meal delivery system is an innovative thermal retention server which assures high quality food service at proper temperatures.

The individual insulated serving trays hold complete meals and keep each part at the proper temperature and separate from all other food items. Food placed in the single use containers at the proper temperature are sealed with produce hot and cold thermal columns which has extraordinary thermal retention characteristics.

Tests show that an entree placed in the server at 200 degrees will be 140 degrees when served two hours later, a spokesman said. Ice cream degrees will be 25 degrees in the same time span, it was explained.

Trailriders compete in first point-show

Mike Pollard riding Martella Two Dawn was a triple winner in the Trailriders Saddle Club's first point show of the current season held during the weekend at the club arena on Chouteau Slough Road, near Rock Road and the Chain of Rocks Canal levee.

Pollard's victories came in the junior western pleasure, junior barrel pleasure and halting class (mare division) events.

Double winners were Lisa Foley riding Apache in the junior poles and plug race; Don James Jr. in pony poles and pony barrels, riding Nellie; and Peter Fuller riding Calhoun Royal in the senior western pleasure and halting class (stallion division).

According to Ginger Bowman, club secretary, competition was "very keen" as members competed against each other for points, which are accumulated in point show events throughout the summer months toward winning ten high-point trophies.

The awards will be presented at the Sept. 7 show. Miss Bowman said. The public is invited to view the next point show, scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, June 21, at the local riding club's arena. Admission is free.

Other first place riders, the event and mount are listed in sequence as follows:

Janetta Bowman, pony pleasure, Sam; Gary Dalton, halting class (gelding division), Sargent Hobby; Don James Sr., gaited country pleasure, Rex; Barb Carter, senior barrel pleasure, Mike's Kathy.

Clinton Smith, fox trotting, Pride; Leon Weldon, senior barrels, Fort Cody; Billy Leroy, junior barrels, Leo Four Steps; Larry Weldon, senior poles, Wide Eyes; and Guy Jackson, flag race, Slacy.

Election by professors

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) has elected new officers for 1975-76, according to Charlotte Frisbee, secretary.

New officers include: Robert Pendergrass, president; William Embloom, president-elect; William Claudon, secretary; Charles Carr, treasurer; and Earl Beard, delegate-at-large. Beard is past president of the organization.

Local recipients were Deb Baker, bachelor of arts, majoring in elementary education, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Baker, 3132 Colgate Place; and Sarah Hillmer, B.A., majoring in Spanish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hillmer, 2660 Cleveland Blvd.

Robt. Diak to attend Air Force Academy

Robert J. Diak, honor student for four years and a member of the 1975 Granite City High South graduating class, has been appointed by Congressman Melvin Price to the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Survey shows need to cut red tape for small business

Reduction in government reports and red tape is the number one need of small business in Illinois, according to a survey by the Small Business Council of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

Results of a poll of small businesses throughout the state indicate these other current needs: Information about legislation and government rules and regulations; management training programs; information on agencies available to assist "small"; and help in expanding markets.

A new government action program aimed at reducing the number of costly, time-consuming government reports and forms was announced by the council.

The 22-member council was created this year to assist small businesses and encourage government at all levels to recognize their needs and problems.

Detailed information on the survey findings is available from Robert M. Beckwith, Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago 60606. Telephone number is 312-372-7373.

Smith is producing components for the fast-selling Pacer

While sales in the automotive industry have been generally dismal this year, A. O. Smith Corp. has struck a note of optimism with production of components for American Motors Corporation's new Pacer automobile.

Pacer sales have been impressive for AMC. Sales for the first three months it was on the market (March, April and May) totaled 34,459 units, which is about 40 per cent of American Motors' total sales.

A. O. Smith makes an isolated front cross member assembly as well as front suspension control arms for the Pacer at Milwaukee. Smith's Granite City operations produce frames for full-size General Motors cars.

Comprised of more than 20 parts, the cross member assembly is the largest structural component made by A. O. Smith for the new generation of smaller cars.

The structure isolates the new vehicle's engine and front suspension from its body, thus improving ride quality through increased comfort and reduced noise levels.

This represents a technique normally applied only to larger cars, a spokesman said. The Pacer, introduced earlier this year, is the first car of its size to be equipped with such a structure.

Manufacture of the Pacer components means more than $5 million in annual sales and over 250 jobs for Smith. Meanwhile, layoffs have been ended by the major automotive frame maker for most of its basic work staffs.

For more than a half century, A. O. Smith has supplied automotive components to American Motors and its predecessor, Nash Motor Co. American began in-depth studies for creating a totally new small car to appeal to a broad spectrum of U. S. car buyers in early 1971.

Basically, AMC wanted an auto large inside, but small outside, to provide "the kind of quietness and comfort consumers have associated with larger cars, and the maneuverability and fuel economy characteristic of small cars."

Meanwhile, because of indications of a market trend toward smaller cars, A. O. Smith engineers modified an AMC Gremlin with a separate frame structure.

The AOS idea followed the theory that a quieter, smoother riding car was possible, at little or no cost penalty, through use of a separate frame structure isolated from the body with rubber mounts. This combination would isolate engine and road vibrations from the passenger compartment.

The rebuilt car was then turned over to AMC for evaluation.

The concept of a separate isolated structure was eventually adopted and blended into the new Pacer chassis design, although the specific design selected by AMC engineers differed from the stub frame used in the AOS rebuild.

From this point on, A. O. Smith engineers began to concentrate on suggestions to enhance the chosen design concept from the standpoint of cost, manufacturability and performance.

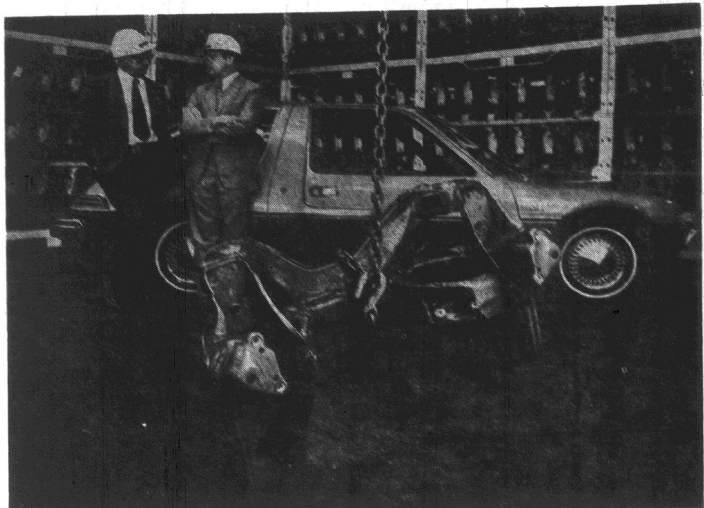

"Many of our proposals were adopted by AMC's design engineers," said Walter Schoof, chief engineer for A. O. Smith Automotive Division. "Of course, AMC's strong desire to make its new small car something special, our ideas both timely and helpful."

Paul Smaglick, general sales manager for the AOS Automotive Division, said over 100,000 front end structures will be produced for American Motors during 1975.

A new assembly line consisting of special equipment and tooling has been added at the firm's Milwaukee plant to produce the parts.

In addition to the cross member assemblies and new front upper and lower control arms for the Pacer, A. O. Smith will continue to provide upper and lower control arms and other stampings used on other American Motors models.

A. O. Smith, with its subsidiaries, is a widely diversified manufacturer of electric motors, meter systems, auto and truck frames, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, water heater equipment, elevators and other products.

American Motors Corporation's new Pacer auto. In background are a Pacer car and racks of the AOS-made Pacer components.

Annual state bar meet June 22-25

The 99th annual meeting of the Illinois State Bar Association is scheduled June 22-25, at Lincolnshire, Ill. Five hundred lawyers are expected to attend programs dealing with various legal concerns: six-member jury, environmental law, government information gathering, collective bargaining legislation, group legal services, and international control of drugs.

The meeting will be held at Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort, 20 miles north of Chicago.

Former North Carolina Senator Sam Ervin will speak on "Individual Privacy vs. Modern Technology" on Tuesday. Dr. Ervin was a sponsor of legislation in the U. S. Stanley of Chicago, president-elect nominee of the American Bar Association, will address the opening session on Monday, June 23.

During that program the initial findings of the recent survey of all Illinois lawyers will be revealed. The survey asked lawyers' opinions of group legal services and legal specialization, and the results also will summarize the range of fees charged for legal services in the state.

Discussion of medical malpractice legislation, judicial retention, amendments to the Code of Professional Responsibility, and legal fees will dominate the meeting of the Assembly, the 129 member governing body.

The Interprofessional Cooperation Committee of the Illinois State Bar Association will report to the Assembly on joint efforts with the Illinois

State Medical Society to prevent a medical malpractice crisis in the state. And a summary of amendments to the Code of Professional Responsibility affecting group legal services will be presented.

Armyworm has healthy appetite

By RON CORNWELL

Agricultural Adviser

Armyworm can be found doing damage in many wheat fields in Madison County. Farmers should also watch carefully for possible damage. No till corn fields planted in soil should be watched especially close.

If armyworms are present in a wheat field, the first place they will appear is in lodged spots of wheat. If you don't find armyworm at the base of the plants in lodged areas of the wheat field, there is no need to check further. If you find armyworm in the lodged spots, check the rest of the field.

Control is not recommended in wheat unless there is a population of 6 or more worms per linear foot of row. Even then, do not apply insecticide until the worms are over half an inch long.

The worms will strip the leaves off most of the wheat plants. On hard wheat, they may even eat the hearts of the wheat heads and not bother the wheat heads. If there is any indication of wheat head cutting, the field should be sprayed.

Armyworm numbers may be reduced in a field by a disease that kills armyworms and by wasp parasites. Wasp parasites are present in Madison County. If you find mated worms on the wheat heads, these worms have been destroyed by disease or a parasite.

The wasp parasite lays eggs in the armyworm. The eggs hatch and the wasp grubs kill the worms. Evaluate the number of worms being destroyed by parasites before going to the expense of spraying.

Any armyworm has a healthy appetite. One worm will consume 43 linear inches of wheat leaf which is the equivalent of these plants during its lifetime. It does 80 per cent of this feeding in the last three to five days of the larvae stage.

Insecticide applications are recommended when the worms are about one-half to three-fourths inch long. Treatment with insecticide will not be profitable after the worms are full grown as they will soon stop feeding and burrow into the ground to pupate.

Armyworm adults will lay eggs in soil areas of zero till corn. Usually worms found in conventional corn have migrated into the corn from nearby wheat fields, pastures or fence rows. Armyworms do not attack legume crops but do their damage in grass type crops.

For control of armyworm in corn, apply sprays of one and one-half pounds of toxaphene, one and one-half pounds of malathion, or three-fourths pound of trichlorfon (Dylox) per acre. For control of armyworm in small grains, apply one and one-half pounds of toxaphene, one and one-half pounds of malathion, or three-fourths pound of trichlorfon (Dylox) per acre.

You cannot feed corn forage sprayed with toxaphene to dairy animals or to livestock being fattened for slaughter. There is a five-day waiting period between the application of malathion on corn and its harvest for grain or silage. The waiting period is seven days in wheat.

If wilted or dead corn plants begin to show up scattered over a corn field, there is a 90-40 possibility the damage could be from wireworm. If a soil a seedicide was used at planting time, this would eliminate this possibility.

To check a field for wireworm, dig up a wilted or dying plant and examine the crown area of the corn plant which is just below the soil line. Typical wireworm damage is a circular hole into the base of the corn stalk. Sometimes the hole goes through the stalk.

Wireworms may also attack the seed causing poor germination. The threat of wireworm damage is normally over by mid-June because the hot, dry weather will drive the wireworm deep into the soil.

There is no good, proven way to control wireworms after the corn is planted. Attempts to control wireworms with a basal application of a granular insecticide, followed by cultivation, have met with variable results.

The best solution provided the damage is severe would be to replant and apply a soil insecticide as Mocap, Counter, or Sevin. If late planted corn, a producer wants to give serious consideration to the amount of damage in a field before tearing it up to replant.

The 1975 University of Illinois Agronomy Field Day will be held Thursday, June 19, at Urbana. The day will begin at 7 a.m. and continue until noon. Madison County farmers attending will have the opportunity to hear in a room in crops and soils research.

Frankie Valli, Four Seasons to highlight fair opening

Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons and Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass will kick off grandstand entertainment at the "Super Fair '75" Aug. 8, according to Paul H. King, manager of the Illinois State Fair.

King, in making the announcement, said he was quite pleased that two such well-known recording groups would headline the grandstand line-up on the opening night of this year's state fair. Valli and the Four Seasons have 17 Gold Records from among the 53 million discs they have sold since 1962.

All grandstand seats are reserved at this year's fair. King said, with box seats costing $5 and other reserve tickets going for $3, $2, and $1. Grandstand performances will begin at 8 p.m. each night of the fair and will feature one performance, according to King. He said there would be no mid-performances this year.

Other grandstand entertainers billed for Super Fair '75 include Donna Fargo, Bill Anderson and Bill "Crazy" Crockett, Aug. 8; America, Aug. 11; Bobby Vinton, Aug. 12; The Osmonds, Aug. 13; Dionne Warwick, Aug. 14; John Davidson, Aug. 15; Anita Bryant and George Kirby, Aug. 16; and Vikki Carr, Aug. 17.

Aug. 18 is "Veterans Day" at the state fair, King said, to be highlighted by drum and bagpipe corps competition all day. "Veterans Day is going to be our biggest day," King predicted. "Attendance should top 150,000 people before it is over." Admission to the state fair is free that day for veterans and their families as well as members of the national guard. Admission other days is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Grandstand tickets are currently available by mail, King said. All requests for tickets to grandstand performances should be sent to: Ticket Office, Illinois State Fair, P.O. Box 376, Springfield, Ill. 62702.

King emphasized that all ticket requests should specify the date of the performance desired and be accompanied by a check or money order payable to the Illinois State Fair.

New guide for taxpayers

A new guide for Illinois taxpayers, prepared by the Department of Local Government Affairs, Office of Financial Affairs, was mailed this week to public libraries, county clerks, treasurers, supervisors of assessments, township assessors, boards of review, and planning agencies throughout the state. DLGA Director Frank A. Kirk reported.

The Illinois Property Tax System is a guide designed to provide a basic explanation of the property tax system to the average taxpayer. Director Kirk said, "Our aim was to treat this complicated subject in a brief and non-technical manner."

Subjects covered in the 24-page guide include a description of property tax, what an assessment is, why assessments vary, what appeal procedures are open to a taxpayer, how a tax bill is computed, and how property tax receipts are distributed and used.

Everyone pays property tax whether they own property or not, the document explains. Those who do not own property pay property taxes indirectly through their rent. "Property tax raises more than $5 billion a year and is the largest source of locally raised tax revenue. Given its importance in financing the many services of local governments, we're trying to make information on the property tax system easily available for taxpayers."

If the people understand the system, our effort to insure equitable tax assessment in Illinois will be made a little easier."

Medical technician course opens Monday

An emergency medical technician course will be offered starting Monday at the St. Elizabeth Hospital trauma center in Granite City. The course is being provided by Belleville Area College and the St. Elizabeth Hospital trauma center in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Emergency Medical Services and Highway Safety. The course will be available to nationally or state certified emergency medical technicians (EMTs) who completed their initial training over two years ago. The only charges are a fee of $5 to offset the cost of material used by the student, and a fee of $5 for those who do not have a text. The refresher course is recommended by the U.S. Department of Transportation and the Illinois Department of Public Health. It also is a prerequisite for continued certification for EMTs by the National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians.

Classes will be held on week-day evenings from 6 to 9 p.m. Louis A. Reibeling, Ph.D., director of public and personal services, Belleville Area College, and Steve Missey, emergency medical services coordinator for the Division of Emergency Medical Services, are coordinators for the course with Missey serving as instructor.

Lesson plans and text book will be those developed by the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons for emergency care and transportation of the sick and injured.

Applicants must appear in person at the trauma coordinator's office at St. Elizabeth Hospital to enroll in the program. Applicants should bring their state and national registry certification cards at a required fee. At time of enrollment, reading and study assignments from the text will be given for the first class.

Today and tomorrow from 1 to 4 p.m., persons may enroll in the course meeting on June 16, 18, 23, 25, 30 and July 2 and 7. For further information, interested persons may contact Steve Missey, 876-2020, ext. 411.

Aug. 1 insurance deadline

The Veterans Administration urges the nearly 2.7 million veterans discharged between April 3, 1970, and Aug. 1, 1974, to apply by midnight Aug. 1 if they want low-cost Veterans Group Life Insurance (VGLI).

Former servicemen separated from military service during that period become eligible during that limited time for VGLI authorized under the Veterans Insurance Act of 1974 (May 24) VA explained.

The insurance is designed to assist veterans through readjustment periods, and it may be carried for five years only.

VGLI is available in increments of $5,000 up to a maximum of $50,000. Premiums for maximum coverage are $2.40 monthly for veterans aged 34 and under, and $6.80 for those 35 and over. To be eligible, the veteran must be in good health, except for service-connected disabilities.

For persons who convert their Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to VGLI within 120 days of leaving service, no health information is required, but those who wait beyond the 120-day period and yet apply within the following year must present evidence of good health except for service-connected disabilities.

Application forms for VGLI are available from VA offices and veterans service organizations. Completed applications and first month premiums for those separated before Aug. 1, 1974, must be submitted before midnight, Aug. 1, 1975 to Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington St., Newark, N. J., 07102.

Charged after auto accident

Charles Chestnut, 24, Peoria Heights, Ill., was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor or drugs, illegal possession of cannabis and liquor and reckless driving after an auto accident at 47th Street and Madison Avenue at 7:20 p.m. Monday.

The southbound auto of Herschel Bristol, 71 University Drive, stopped for the traffic light and witnesses allege Chestnut's southbound car skidded 40 feet before striking the rear of the stopped car.

A passenger in Chestnut's auto jumped from the car after the accident and ran from the scene, witnesses said. He has not been identified.

Police alleged finding a bottle of liquor and a small bag of marijuana in Chestnut's car.

Quality instruction, more school-home cooperation are goals of Madison teacher development program

The $245,000 U. S. Office of Education grant to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for a two-year teacher development program in conjunction with the Madison School District—disclosed by the Press-Record on Monday—is said by Dr. Andrew J. Kochman, vice-president and provost, to be one of the largest ever awarded to the university for an academic project.

James M. Comer, associate professor of elementary education and project director, adds, "The project is designed to re-train experienced teachers, with emphasis on individualization of instruction for both the teachers involved and for the children of the Madison district."

Comer said the project will be a demonstration model and the first teacher re-training project in Southwestern Illinois.

Donald J. Baden, assistant professor of elementary education, will be the program specialist for the project.

About 15 other SIUE faculty from seven departments of the School of Education will be involved in the project.

LABOR FEDERATION
On March 7, 1938, the CIO proposed the formation of a single federation of American labor.

involved part-time on an "in-and-out" basis, Comer said. There also will be experience opportunities for at least four teachers in Madison elementary schools. The district has approximately 50 teachers and 1,300 students in four grade schools.

The Teachers Corps grant was awarded partially on the basis that the Madison district contains a concentration of low-income families.

In addition, a program objective is "to improve cultural opportunities and relations."

Basically, the thrust of the project is to help teachers improve the quality of their instructional efforts, Comer said. The project director explained that an additional objective is "to develop a high level of community involvement" by encouraging parent volunteers to work as aides in the school, thereby developing models for school and home cooperation.

Baden points out that the project will take a new approach to "in-service training" for teachers.

"In the past, in-service training has been dictated; this program will provide opportunities for the teachers to tell what their needs are," the program specialist said.

John L. Palchett, superintendent of Madison public schools, said this week, "We are thrilled with the prospect of working together with SIUE in a proposal that has excited our teachers, students and community."

Palchett indicated the program will benefit school children, teachers and the community.

"The thought of adding thrusts into areas of weakness or concern, with people having expertise in these fields, is stimulating," he said.

"Developing materials that will help the teachers with individualization should enhance our instructional program."

Continuing, the superintendent said, "In-service training for our teachers will provide us with a staff whose growth and development and potential will be challenging to our students. And the involvement of the community should bring a closer relationship among all the people involved."

W. Deane Wiley, dean of the SIUE School of Education, believes the project "will stimulate the efforts of the School of Education in furthering movement toward implementation of a competency-based teacher education program at both the undergraduate and graduate level. We see this project as improving the quality of education for the children of this area."

Comer said the project will be designed as a demonstration model for the benefit of other schools in this region. He said there are 7,200 elementary teachers and 108,000 elementary school children within a 30-mile radius of Madison.

Baden emphasized that a change in the quality of education must come from re-training present teachers because "new teachers are not being hired in most school districts."

The project proposal has been approved by the teachers, administrators and board of education of Madison Community Unit District No. 12, the Citizens Advisory Committee of the district, the office of the Madison County educational service region and the State Office of Education.

ALL DRESSED UP, but...

We Do Everything for Vacationers —but Babysit

It's surprising how many ways we can help make your vacation carefree. First, you may need a Personal Loan to cover expenses. Next, we offer Travelers Checks to protect your funds against loss or theft. Then there's our Bank-by-Mail Service which means you or your agent can make deposits while you are gone. And, of course, you'll want a Safe Deposit Box where you can safely leave your valuables—everything except the baby, that is!

There are other ways we can help should you plan a more extended absence. But whether you are gone for a week—or a year—let our Vacation Service relieve you of worrisome details. And remember, we offer these same personal services throughout the year to make your living carefree as possible.
